Developmental Screenings

WHAT IS A SCREENING?

A developmental screening is an early identification tool used to assess expected growth, learning, and development of young children. Common screening tools are the ASQ and SWYC.

Screenings observe how a child changes and grows over time and assists with diagnosis of cognitive, motor, communication or social-emotional delays.

AVAILABILITY

Free screenings are available at a child's provider or at the ELAFRC through ENRICH.

Mental and Behavioral Health

FOR YOUR CHILD AND YOU

The ENRICH Mental Health Consultant is available to support families and children as they explore diagnosis.

The MHC can support parents with:

- Draft letters
- Inaccurate or misdiagnoses
- Individualized Education Plan (IEP) development
- School meetings
- Psychosocial and emotional support

CONNECT WITH ENRICH
