

Touchstone Journey Training

March 13 & 27 10-1:00pm PT

Photo: Touchstone by Natalia Muñoz inspired by Fannie Lou Hamer

Touchstone Journey is an invitation to create & carry resources for transforming trauma that lives in our bodies, relationships, communities and systems. This learning-lab style training welcomes a new cohort of individuals wishing to pilot Touchstone Journey as a resource to anchor transformation of trauma. Through this critical arts-based practice, individual, community, and national trauma can be addressed from the cellular to the systemic level.

Spanning two days, March 13 & 27, this series supports participants to:

- Experience Touchstones as a durational practice & method of change
- Incubate & prototype practices for the contexts & communities they serve
- Access resources developed by past, present & future Touchstone innovators

This Training will be Co-Facilitated by:

OMARTHAN CLARKE

- Critical Arts Practitioner with focus on anti-bias and diversity awareness and cultural policy analysis
- Social Justice and Community Arts Coordinator at A Window Between Worlds

CATHY SALSER

- Founder of A Window Between Worlds
- Durational artist dedicated to living art as a brave and vulnerable practice and catalyst for interactive journeys disrupting and divesting from legacies of trauma

CLICK HERE FOR
Touchstone Video

Scholarships are available for those innovating Touchstones to support the advancement of social justice, racial equity, economic justice, human rights, social & systems change. Click here for details.

Registration Deadline: March 6th

Fee: $300

Includes:

- Start-up supply toolkit
- Two 3-hour zoom training sessions
- Touchstone Journey buddy
- Post-training access to private online community & 2021 monthly zoom gatherings for continued co-innovation

CLICK HERE FOR
Info & Registration