

Los Angeles County Department of Public Health's CalFresh Healthy Living Program

CalFresh Healthy Living, nationally known as the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program Education (SNAP-Ed), improves the nutritional health of low-income Californians by providing access to nutrition education, physical activity education, and leadership towards healthy community initiatives. The Los Angeles County Department of Public Health is partnering with multi-sector organizations across Los Angeles County to provide a comprehensive public health approach to improve access to healthy food and prevent diet-related chronic diseases among Los Angeles County's low-income families.

Funded Partners

Early Childhood Education

- The Children's Collective Inc.

School Districts

- Glendale Unified School District
- Lawndale Elementary School District
- Pasadena Unified School District

Healthcare Clinics

- Venice Family Clinic
- Northeast Valley Health Corporation
- Asian Pacific Healthcare Venture

Food Banks/Pantries

- Antelope Valley Partners for Health
- Los Angeles Regional Food Bank

Produce Distribution

- Social Justice Learning Institute
- Asian Pacific Islander Forward Movement
- Los Angeles Regional Food Bank
- Seeds of Hope, Episcopal Diocese of Los Angeles

Nutrition Education and Physical Activity

- Active San Gabriel Valley
- Adventist Health Glendale Foundation
- California State University – Northridge
- National Health Foundation
- Sustainable Economic Enterprises of Los Angeles
- The Whole Child

